

PRESS RELEASE

The New Forest Centre is Buzzing this Half Term

On Monday 16 and Tuesday 17 February there's a hive of activities at the New Forest Centre that are all about bees. As well as a real bee hive, do a bee hunt and some craft as well. Drop in and drone about!

This two day event is in honour of this year's National Science and Engineering Week. One of the major aims of the Week is the Save Our Bees Campaign that is trying to raise awareness of the problems that our honey bee populations are struggling with.

On Thursday 19 February we'll be staging a drop-in History Detective Day where'll you'll be able to discover more about the amazing New Forest National Park and it's past.

Notes for Editors:

All days drop-in 10am to 4pm

Normal Museum charges apply:

Standard £3.00, Concession £2.50

Children go FREE

Small charge for craft activities
